

Interview with King George III

Questions for students

How can you call yourself a moral king? You treat us so poorly!

What do we owe you? You aren't giving us anything for free!

Why should we pay for a war you started? The French would eventually leave us alone!

You can't punish everyone for the actions of a few!

Why should we be loyal to you? You are a tyrant!

Parliament is in the process of passing Acts, or laws, in order to raise some money to pay off your huge national debt, the equivalent of $240 today. What gives you the British government the right to pass these taxes?

Many British colonists argue that you don't know what is best for people living in America. How do you respond to those critics?

Do you have any other justification for the tax acts that are being passed?
